Why choose Cambridge International?

Cambridge International prepares school students for life, helping them develop an informed curiosity and a lasting passion for learning. We are part of Cambridge University Press & Assessment, which is a department of the University of Cambridge.

Our Cambridge Pathway gives students a clear path for educational success from age 5 to 19. Schools can shape the curriculum around how they want students to learn – with a wide range of subjects and flexible ways to offer them. It helps students discover new abilities and a wider world, and gives them the skills they need for life, so they can achieve at school, university and work.

Our programmes and qualifications set the global standard for international education. They are created by subject experts, rooted in academic rigour and reflect the latest educational research. They provide a strong platform for learners to progress from one stage to the next, and are well supported by teaching and learning resources.

Our mission is to provide educational benefit through provision of international programmes and qualifications for school education and to be the world leader in this field. Together with schools, we develop Cambridge learners who are confident, responsible, reflective, innovative and engaged – equipped for success in the modern world.

Every year, nearly a million Cambridge students from 10 000 schools in 160 countries prepare for their future with the Cambridge Pathway.

School feedback: ‘We think the Cambridge curriculum is superb preparation for university.’

Feedback from: Christoph Guttentag, Dean of Undergraduate Admissions, Duke University, USA

Quality management

Cambridge International is committed to providing exceptional quality. In line with this commitment, our quality management system for the provision of international qualifications and education programmes for students aged 5 to 19 is independently certified as meeting the internationally recognised standard, ISO 9001:2015. 1 Why choose this syllabus?

Key benefits

Cambridge IGCSE is the world's most popular international qualification for 14 to 16 year olds, although it can be taken by students of other ages. It is tried, tested and trusted.

Students can choose from 70 subjects in any combination – it is taught by over 4500 schools in over 140 countries.

Our programmes balance a thorough knowledge and understanding of a subject and help to develop the skills learners need for their next steps in education or employment.

Cambridge IGCSE Sociology encourages learners to think critically about contemporary social, cultural and political issues. The syllabus provides opportunities to explore concepts and arguments that underpin the discipline of sociology. Learners are supported in developing key transferable skills such as the interpretation of evidence, analysis and evaluation while studying a range of stimulating topics and real-world issues.

Our approach in Cambridge IGCSE Sociology encourages learners to be:

confident, developing the ability to express and communicate sociological ideas and arguments to others responsible, developing sociological awareness of contemporary social, cultural and political issues, and a respect for different views reflective, developing the skills that enable learners to take ownership of the process of learning, both individually and collaboratively innovative, developing informed views on real-world issues and new ways of thinking about familiar topics engaged, interested and ready to address social, cultural and political issues in a holistic way.

School feedback: ‘The strength of Cambridge IGCSE qualifications is internationally recognised and has provided an international pathway for our students to continue their studies around the world.’

Feedback from: Gary Tan, Head of Schools and CEO, Raffles International Group of Schools, Indonesia

International recognition and acceptance

Our expertise in curriculum, teaching and learning, and assessment is the basis for the recognition of our programmes and qualifications around the world. The combination of knowledge and skills in Cambridge IGCSE Sociology gives learners a solid foundation for further study. Candidates who achieve grades A* to C are well prepared to follow a wide range of courses including Cambridge International AS & A Level Sociology.

Cambridge IGCSEs are accepted and valued by leading universities and employers around the world as evidence of academic achievement. Many universities require a combination of Cambridge International AS & A Levels and Cambridge IGCSEs or equivalent to meet their entry requirements.

UK NARIC*, the national agency in the UK for the recognition and comparison of international qualifications and skills, has carried out an independent benchmarking study of Cambridge IGCSE and found it to be comparable to the standard of the GCSE in the UK. This means students can be confident that their Cambridge IGCSE qualifications are accepted as equivalent to UK GCSEs by leading universities worldwide.

* Due to the United Kingdom leaving the European Union, the UK NARIC national recognition agency function was re-titled as UK ENIC on 1 March 2021, operated and managed by Ecctis Limited. From 1 March 2021, international benchmarking findings are published under the Ecctis name.

2 Syllabus overview

Aims

The aims describe the purposes of a course based on this syllabus.

The aims are to enable students to:

- develop knowledge and understanding of sociological concepts, theories, methods and research findings
- understand issues and problems concerning the planning, implementation and evaluation of research enquiry and the collection, analysis and interpretation of data
- understand the ways in which personal and social identities are constructed and maintained
- encourage a critical awareness of social, economic and political structures and processes, and their effects on individuals and communities
- understand the tensions between individual free will and social structures, and continuity and change in societies
- gain an appreciation and understanding of individual, social and cultural diversity
- apply sociological knowledge and understanding to their own lives and their participation within society.

Cambridge Assessment International Education is an education organisation and politically neutral. The contents of this syllabus, examination papers and associated materials do not endorse any political view. We endeavour to treat all aspects of the exam process neutrally.

- 6.3 How is crime dealt with in different societies?

Assessment overview

All candidates take two components. Candidates will be eligible for grades A* to G.

All candidates take:

Paper 1 2 hours
Research Methods, Identity and Inequality 50%
80 marks

Candidates answer two structured questions:

- Question 1 Research methods (compulsory) – all candidates answer this question, which includes data response.
- Question 2 and Question 3 – candidates choose to answer either Question 2 or Question 3.

Externally assessed

and:

Paper 2 1 hour 45 minutes
Family, Education and Crime 50%
80 marks

Candidates answer two optional structured questions from a choice of three.

Externally assessed

Information on availability is in the Before you start section.

Assessment objectives

The assessment objectives (AOs) are:

AO1 Knowledge and understanding

Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of sociological concepts, theories, evidence, views and research methods.

AO2 Interpretation and application

Apply relevant sociological concepts, theories, evidence, views and research methods to support points or develop arguments.

Explain how sociological concepts, theories, evidence, views and research methods apply to a particular issue or question.

AO3 Analysis and evaluation

Analyse and evaluate sociological theories, evidence, views and research methods:

- explain the strengths and limitations of sociological theories, views and research methods
- construct, develop and discuss sociological arguments
- reach conclusions and make judgements based on a reasoned consideration of evidence.

Weighting for assessment objectives

The approximate weightings allocated to each of the assessment objectives (AOs) are summarised below.

Assessment objectives as a percentage of the qualification

Assessment objective	Weighting in IGCSE %
AO1 Knowledge and understanding	39
AO2 Interpretation and application	39
AO3 Analysis and evaluation	22
Total	100

Assessment objectives as a percentage of each component

Assessment objective	Weighting in components %
	Paper 1	Paper 2
AO1 Knowledge and understanding	35	43
AO2 Interpretation and application	40	37
AO3 Analysis and evaluation	25	20
Total	100	100

3 Subject content

This syllabus gives you the flexibility to design a course that will interest, challenge and engage your learners. Where appropriate you are responsible for selecting topics, subject contexts, resources and examples to support your learners' study. These should be appropriate for the learners' age, cultural background and learning context as well as complying with your school policies and local legal requirements.

The content is organised into six topics, which explore the nature of social relationships, processes and structures. The first topic provides a foundation for the other topics of the syllabus by considering the methods and procedures employed in sociological research. Promoting candidates' understanding of research methods and their strengths and limitations is a key feature of the syllabus and this underpins each of the other topics.

Teachers should emphasise how different levels of social life (macro and micro) are interconnected and encourage candidates' awareness of the interrelated nature of the social structure. Candidates will also be expected to recognise the significance of class, gender, ethnic and age differences within societies. Cross-cultural and historical comparisons, analysis and use of examples are encouraged.

The Cambridge IGCSE Sociology syllabus has been designed so that teachers in any society can apply candidates' own experiences, local case studies and sociological work relating to their own way of life to an understanding of the central ideas and themes of sociology in modern industrial societies.

There are three topics in Paper 1:

- 1 Research methods
- 2 Identity: self and society
- 3 Social stratification and inequality.

All three topics are fundamental to the study of sociology and provide a foundation for studying the topics in Paper 2. Teachers should teach all three topics in Paper 1.

There are three topics in Paper 2:

- 4 Family
- 5 Education
- 6 Crime, deviance and social control.

Teachers should teach two of these. For Paper 2, candidates must answer questions on two of the topics.

Paper 1 Research Methods, Identity and Inequality

1 Research Methods

This topic considers the approaches and procedures used in sociological research. This provides a basis for understanding the uniquely sociological way of studying society. Candidates will be required to make and justify a plan of research on a specified topic.

1.1 How do sociologists approach the study of society?

1.1.1 The positivist approach:

- The scientific method
- A macro view
- Social facts
- Quantitative data
- Causation and correlation
- Patterns and trends
- Objectivity and reliability

1.1.2 The interpretivist approach:

- A micro view
- Meanings and motivations
- Qualitative data
- In-depth
- Subjectivity
- Validity and verstehen

1.1.3 Approaches that combine different research methods and evidence:

- Triangulation
- Longitudinal studies

1.1.4 The analysis and evaluation of research choices:

- Bias
- Interviewer effect
- Hawthorne/Observer effect
- Validity
- Reliability
- Representativeness
- Generalisability

1.2 What types of data and evidence do sociologists use?

1.2.1 Sources of data:

- Differences between primary and secondary sources of data
- Differences between qualitative and quantitative data
- Strengths and limitations of each type of data

1.2.2 Secondary evidence:

- Examples of:
 - official statistics
 - historical and personal documents
 - digital sources
 - media content
- Strengths and limitations of each type of evidence

1.2.3 Analysis, interpretation and evaluation of data from qualitative and quantitative sources:

- Summaries of sociological studies
- Diagrams
- Tables
- Charts
- Graphs

1.3 How do sociologists investigate society?

1.3.1 The stages in research design:

- Selection of topic
- Aims
- Hypothesis
- Target population
- Methods
- Operationalisation
- Pilot studies

1.3.2 Sampling:

- Sampling frames
- Sampling techniques:
 - random
 - systematic
 - stratified
 - snowball
 - quota
- Strengths and limitations of each technique

1.3 How do sociologists investigate society? (continued)

1.3.3 Quantitative and qualitative primary research methods:

- Surveys
- Questionnaires
- Interviews (structured, semi-structured, unstructured, group)
- Observations (participant, non-participant, covert, overt)
- Strengths and limitations of each method

1.3.4 Types of question:

- Open
- Closed
- Multiple choice
- Scaled

1.3.5 The theoretical and practical issues affecting research:

- Researcher perspective (positivist/interpretivist)
- Access to sample
- Response rate
- Funding/cost
- Time

1.3.6 Ethical issues affecting research:

- Informed consent
- Privacy/confidentiality
- Deception
- Prevention of harm
- Legality

2 Identity: self and society

This topic considers the relationship between the individual and society, what constitutes our identity and how identity and behaviour are shaped by social processes.

2.1 How do we learn our identity?

2.1.1

(a) Society as a product of social construction:

- Culture
- Norms
- Values
- Customs
- Roles
- Status (achieved/ascribed)
- Stereotypes

(b) How these concepts influence individual behaviour and social identity

2.1.2 The social construction of our identity:

- The nature–nurture debate
- The relativity of culture
- Socialisation
- Norms and values

2.1.3 Primary and secondary socialisation:

- Key agencies of socialisation:
 - family
 - education
 - peer group
 - media
 - religion
 - workplace
- The effectiveness of each agency in the socialisation process

2.1.4 Processes used by agencies of socialisation, e.g.:

- Canalisation
- Hidden curriculum
- Media representations
- Peer pressure
- Religious teachings
- Role modelling
- Workplace training

2.1 How do we learn our identity? (continued)

2.1.5 The debate between sociological perspectives and theories on socialisation:

- Consensus and conflict
- Functionalist ideas:
 - inadequate socialisation
 - social cohesion/value consensus
- Marxist ideas:
 - socialisation into capitalist ideology
 - reproduction of social class
- Feminist ideas:
 - gender role socialisation into masculinity/femininity

2.2 How does society control us?

2.2.1 Social control:

- Difference between formal and informal types of social control
- Positive and negative sanctions
- Effectiveness of these in producing social conformity

2.2.2 The debate between consensus and conflict views of social control:

- Functionalism
- Marxism
- Feminism

2.2.3 The effectiveness of agencies of formal social control:

- Government
- Police
- Courts
- Penal system
- Armed forces

2.2.4 Methods of control used by formal agencies in achieving social conformity, e.g.:

- Law-making
- Coercion
- Digital surveillance
- Arrest
- Sentencing
- Imprisonment

2.2 How does society control us? (continued)

2.2.5 The effectiveness of agencies of informal social control:

- Family
- Education
- Peer group
- Media
- Religion
- Workplace

2.2.6 Methods of control used by informal agencies in achieving social conformity:

- Positive and negative sanctions, e.g.:
 - ostracism
 - parental rewards
 - social media ‘likes’
 - religious rewards/sanctions
 - school punishments
 - dismissal from a job

2.2.7 Resistance to social control through protest groups and sub-cultures:

- Reasons why some people join them
- Deviant and non-conformist behaviour
- Examples of:
 - protest groups
 - online sub-cultures
 - youth sub-cultures
 - religious sub-cultures

2.3 What influences our social identity?

2.3.1 Social identity:

- Key aspects of social identity:
 - age
 - gender
 - ethnicity
 - social class
- Impact of each aspect on individuals and social groups in different societies

2.3.2 The digital self and online identities:

- Positive and negative impacts of social networks, social media and virtual communities on identity

2.3 What influences our social identity? (continued)

2.3.3 Globalisation:

(a) Globalisation's influence on individual and social/cultural identities, e.g.:

- Cultural defence
- Hybrid identities
- The homogenisation of identities

(b) Positive and negative impacts on identity of:

- Cultural diversity
- Multiculturalism
- Global culture

2.3.4 Postmodernist views of identity as chosen rather than given:

- Digital identities
- Identities linked to consumption patterns and lifestyle in a 'pick and mix' society

3 Social stratification and inequality

This topic explores how societies are stratified. It examines the reasons why inequalities exist and how they are created and perpetuated. It also explores attempts to reduce inequalities and the extent to which these have been seen as successful.

3.1 What is social stratification?

3.1.1 Social stratification in open and closed societies:

- Achieved and ascribed status
- Poverty and wealth
- Power
- Social mobility
- Meritocracy
- Modern slavery
- The caste system

3.1.2 Differences in life chances affected by age, gender, ethnicity and social class:

- Life chances in:
 - education
 - employment
 - health
 - housing
 - life expectancy

3.1 What is social stratification? (continued)

3.1.3 The intersectionality of age, ethnicity, gender and social class in understanding the impact of inequality on individuals

3.1.4 Different sociological theories on social inequality:

- Labelling theory, e.g.:
 - stereotypes
 - master status
 - self-fulfilling prophecy
- Marxism, e.g.:
 - exploitation of the proletariat
 - ideological control
 - poverty trap
 - reserve army of labour

3.2 What attempts have been made to reduce social inequalities?

3.2.1 The use of legislation within societies to reduce inequality, e.g.:

- Progressive taxation
- The redistribution of wealth through benefits
- A minimum wage
- Equal opportunities laws
- Other government measures

3.2.2 The development and impact of welfare states on life chances:

- Free and/or universal education
- Unemployment benefits
- Pensions
- Low-cost housing
- Free healthcare
- Universal basic income

3.2.3 The global work of Non-Governmental Organisations (NGOs) to reduce inequalities:

- Reducing poverty
- Providing medical assistance
- Promoting business
- Improving education

3.2 What attempts have been made to reduce social inequalities? (continued)

3.2.4 Sociological views of the success of attempts to reduce social inequalities:

- New Right criticisms of the welfare state/underclass
- The culture of poverty and the dependency culture
- Marxist criticisms of the welfare state
- Criticisms of NGOs
- Feminist criticisms of equality legislation

3.3 How has globalisation affected inequalities between societies?

3.3.1 The impact of migration on societies:

- Immigration/emigration
- Push and pull factors
- Increasing cultural diversity
- Economic consequences
- Negative perceptions of migrants

3.3.2 The impact of global ecological issues on societies:

- The influence of transnational companies
- Climate change
- Pollution
- Urbanisation

3.3.3 Sociological explanations for global inequalities:

- Marxist views of capitalist exploitation
- Colonialism
- Feminist ideas of patriarchy

Paper 2 Family, Education and Crime

4 Family

This topic explores the sociology of the family in a modern global context, including different types of families, alternatives to the family and changing roles and relationships within the family. The views of different sociological theories on the role of the family will also be explored.

4.1 What are the different types of families?

4.1.1 Different family structures:

- Nuclear
- Extended, e.g. modified, horizontal, vertical/beanpole
- Reconstituted
- Same-sex
- Lone parent
- Polygamous
- Empty nest
- Childless
- Strengths and limitations of different family structures

4.1.2 Variations and diversity in the family:

- Cross-cultural
- Social class
- Ethnicity

4.1.3 Sociological views on family diversity:

- New Right views on family diversity and dysfunctional families
- Postmodernist views on the positive aspects of family diversity
- The extent of family diversity and the dominance of the nuclear family

4.1.4 Alternatives to the family:

- Single person households
- Shared households
- Friends as family

4.1.5 Variations in types of marriage:

- Arranged
- Empty shell
- Love
- Monogamy
- Polygamy
- Same-sex
- Serial monogamy

4.2 What is the role of the family for the individual and society?

4.2.1 Functionalist views:

- How the family benefits its members and society
- Functions of the family
- The loss of functions debate
- How family functions have changed over time
- 'Warm bath' theory
- Importance of the nuclear family

4.2.2 Marxist views:

- How the family benefits capitalism
- Exploitation of family members
- Reproduction of class inequalities
- Family as a unit of consumption
- Family and ideological control

4.2.3 Feminist views:

- How the family benefits patriarchy and male power
- The domestic division of labour
- Domestic violence and abuse
- Joint and segregated conjugal roles
- Dual burden / triple shift
- Decision-making
- Gendered socialisation

4.2.4 Strengths and limitations of functionalist, Marxist and feminist views of the role of the family

4.2.5 Debates about whether the experience of family life is positive or negative for family members

4.3 How is family life changing?

4.3.1 Demographic factors and their effects on family life:

- Family size
- Birth rates
- Life expectancy
- Ageing population
- Having children in later life

4.3.2 The impact of industrialisation and urbanisation on family structures and roles

4.3.3 Explanations of changing patterns and trends in marriage, divorce and cohabitation:

- Legislation
- Societal attitudes and values
- Role of the internet
- Secularisation
- Cultural expectations
- Changes in the status and power of women / female empowerment

4.3.4 Alternatives to marriage:

- Cohabitation
- Singlehood
- Lone parents
- Civil partnerships

4.3.5 Changing family roles:

- Changing conjugal roles:
 - more diverse family types
 - segregated to joint conjugal roles, e.g. symmetrical family, dual worker family
 - the pivot/sandwich generation
- Changing roles of children:
 - economic burden/cost
 - child-centredness
 - boomerang children
- Changing roles of grandparents:
 - childcare
 - economic support
 - wisdom and advice
 - dependent / a burden

5 Education

This topic explores the influence of education on the individual and society and what is meant by education and schooling. This includes the views of different sociological theories on the role and functions of education, patterns and explanations of educational achievement and differences in global education.

5.1 What is education and schooling?

5.1.1 Formal and informal education:

- Differences between formal and informal education
- The official curriculum: testing, syllabus content and subjects
- The hidden curriculum: norms and values, punctuality, conformity, gender roles

5.1.2 Different types of schools:

- The effectiveness of different types of schools, e.g.:
 - state/public
 - private
 - selective/non-selective
 - single-sex
 - co-educational
 - faith schools
 - international
- Strengths and limitations of each type of school

5.1.3 Alternative approaches to education:

- Online learning
- Homeschooling
- Unschooling
- Vocational learning
- Progressive schooling
- Strengths and limitations of different approaches to education

5.2 What are the roles and functions of education?

5.2.1 The functionalist view:

- The positive roles and functions of education:
 - the roles of education: socialisation, social control, economic, selective
 - meritocracy and social mobility
 - role allocation
 - value consensus
 - equal opportunities
 - standardised testing
 - setting by ability
 - vocationalism
- Strengths and limitations of the functionalist view

5.2 What are the roles and functions of education? (continued)

5.2.2 The Marxist view:

- The roles and functions of education in the reproduction of class inequalities:
 - socialisation and social control as capitalist ideological control
 - the hidden and official curriculum
 - the middle-class culture in schools, e.g. the importance of cultural capital
 - the myth of meritocracy
 - material factors, e.g. access to digital technology
 - setting by ability
- Strengths and limitations of the Marxist view

5.2.3 The feminist view:

- The roles and functions of education in perpetuating gender inequalities:
 - the patriarchal culture of education
 - male power
 - gender hierarchy
 - role models
 - access to education
 - gendered curriculum / subject choice
 - teacher expectations
 - peer groups and social control
- Strengths and limitations of the feminist view

5.3 What factors help to explain differences in educational achievement and experience?

5.3.1 Patterns in educational achievement and experience:

- Social class
- Ethnicity
- Gender
- Global differences

5.3.2 Explanations for differences in educational achievement and experience based on social class:

- Material factors, e.g. access to digital technology
- Cultural and social factors
- Cultural capital
- Home/community factors
- Linguistic factors
- Compensatory education
- In-school factors, e.g. pro- and anti-school sub-cultures
- Selective and private education
- Labelling theory
- Marxist explanations

5.3 What factors help to explain differences in educational achievement and experience? (continued)

5.3.3 Explanations for differences in educational achievement and experience based on ethnicity:

- Institutional racism
- Ethnocentric curriculum
- Role models
- Linguistic factors
- Cultural, material and social factors
- Home/community factors
- In-school factors, e.g. pro- and anti-school sub-cultures, ethnic sub-cultures
- Labelling theory

5.3.4 Explanations for differences in educational achievement and experience based on gender:

- Differential gendered socialisation and social control
- Teacher expectations
- Cultural and social factors
- Access to education
- In-school factors, e.g. pro- and anti-school sub-cultures, gendered sub-cultures
- Labelling theory
- Feminist explanations, e.g. patriarchy

5.3.5 Global differences in educational achievement:

- Reasons for differential achievement in different countries, e.g.:
 - availability of schools
 - poverty/wealth
 - access to education for girls
 - class sizes
 - norms, values and cultural differences
 - access to the internet / digital resources

5.3.6 Strengths and limitations of the different explanations for differences in educational achievement:

- Social class
- Ethnicity
- Gender
- Global differences

6 Crime, deviance and social control

This topic explores criminal and deviant behaviour and how it is dealt with and understood in different social contexts. This includes the views of different sociological theories on the definitions, patterns and explanations of crime.

6.1 What are crime, deviance and social control?

6.1.1 The difference between crime and deviance:

- Definitions of crime and deviance
- The relativity of crime and deviance: crime and deviance vary within and between societies, cultures, situations and across time

6.1.2 Formal social control:

- Formal agencies of social control:
 - the police
 - courts
 - armed forces
 - government
 - penal system
- How formal agencies control individuals and prevent crime and deviance

6.1.3 Informal social control:

- Informal agencies of social control:
 - family
 - education
 - workplace
 - peer group
 - traditional and digital media
 - religion
- How informal agencies control individuals and prevent crime and deviance

6.1.4 The effectiveness of agencies and methods of social control in achieving conformity and preventing crime and deviance

6.1 What are crime, deviance and social control? (continued)

6.1.5 Different types and examples of crimes:

- Violent crime
- Property crime
- White-collar/corporate crime
- Expressive crime
- Instrumental crime
- Gang crime
- Green crime
- Global crime, e.g. organised crime
- Cyber crime
- Hate crime
- Domestic crime

6.1.6 Measuring crime:

- Measurements of crime:
 - official statistics
 - self-report studies
 - victim surveys (local and national)
- Strengths and limitations of each measurement of crime
- The problem of unreported and unrecorded crime

6.2 What are the patterns of and explanations for crime and deviance?

6.2.1 Patterns of crime and victimisation:

- Age
- Social class
- Gender
- Ethnicity

6.2.2 Explanations for crime and deviance based on age:

- Police targeting / stop and search
- Self-fulfilling prophecy
- Stereotyping
- Gang culture
- Socialisation and social control

4 Details of the assessment

Paper 1 Research Methods, Identity and Inequality

Written paper, 2 hours, 80 marks

Paper 1 has three questions. Candidates answer two questions. Question 1 is compulsory, candidates choose to answer either Question 2 or Question 3.

The questions are on the following topics:

Question 1 Research methods (compulsory)

Question 2 Identity: self and society

Question 3 Social stratification and inequality

Candidates must study all three topics.

Each question is worth 40 marks.

Question 1 Research methods

Question 1 is compulsory. The question has five parts (a – e). Candidates must answer all of the parts.

Q1(a) has three parts (i, ii, iii). The questions are based on source material printed in the question paper. The source material will contain qualitative or quantitative information or a mixture of both. Candidates must identify information, explain an aspect of the research, and explain problems or issues with the evidence from the source.

These questions assess AO2 and AO3 skills.

Q1(b) and Q1(c) are short-answer questions. They require candidates to show knowledge and understanding of concepts, ideas and examples related to sociological research methods.

These questions assess AO1 and AO2 skills.

Q1(d) is a short essay-style question that requires candidates to evaluate a methodological view, approach or concept.

This question assesses AO1, AO2 and AO3 skills.

Q1(e) asks candidates to explain the primary methods, sampling and secondary evidence that they would use to investigate a specified topic and give reasons for their choices. No subject knowledge of the topic under investigation is required as candidates will be assessed on their knowledge of sociological research methodology. Candidates will not be expected to evaluate their chosen methodology.

This question assesses AO1, AO2 and AO3 skills.

Question 2 Identity: self and society and Question 3 Social stratification and inequality

Candidates choose to answer either Question 2 or Question 3.

Each question has six parts (a – f). Each question has the same structure.

Parts (a) and (b) require short answers. They test candidates' knowledge and understanding of terms, ideas and examples, and require candidates to select and apply their sociological knowledge to a specific area of the topic.

These questions assess AO1 and AO2 skills.

Parts (c) and (d) require candidates to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of sociological concepts, theories, evidence and views within a specified area of the topic. Candidates should be encouraged to refer to sociological evidence and examples in their answer.

These questions assess AO1 and AO2 skills.

Part (e) requires candidates to discuss a sociological issue or view. Candidates will need to write about issues or topics in depth in a structured way and support their ideas with relevant evidence.

This question assesses AO1, AO2 and AO3 skills.

Part (f) is a short essay-style question. Candidates will need to be able to develop reasoned arguments on both sides of a debate and support their points with relevant sociological evidence.

This question assesses AO1, AO2 and AO3 skills.

Paper 2 Family, Education and Crime

Written paper, 1 hour 45 minutes, 80 marks

Paper 2 has three questions. Candidates choose to answer two of the three questions.

The questions are on the following topics:

Question 1 Family

Question 2 Education

Question 3 Crime, deviance and social control

Each question has six parts (a – f). Each question has the same structure.

Each question is worth 40 marks.

Parts (a) and (b) require short answers. They test candidates' knowledge and understanding of terms, ideas and examples, and require candidates to select and apply their sociological knowledge to a specific area of the topic.

These questions assess AO1 and AO2 skills.

Parts (c) and (d) require candidates to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of sociological concepts, theories, evidence and views within a specified area of the topic. Candidates should be encouraged to refer to sociological evidence and examples in their answer.

These questions assess AO1 and AO2 skills.

Part (e) requires candidates to discuss a sociological issue or view. Candidates will need to write about issues or topics in depth in a structured way and support their ideas with relevant evidence.

This question assesses AO1, AO2 and AO3 skills.

Part (f) is a short essay-style question. Candidates will need to be able to develop reasoned arguments on both sides of a debate and support their points with relevant sociological evidence.

This question assesses AO1, AO2 and AO3 skills.

Command words

Command words and their meanings help candidates know what is expected from them in the exams. The table below includes command words used in the assessment for this syllabus. The use of the command word will relate to the subject context.

Command word	What it means
Assess	make an informed judgement
Define	give precise meaning
Describe	state the points of a topic / give characteristics and main features
Develop	take forward to a more advanced stage or build upon given information
Discuss	write about issue(s) or topic(s) in depth in a structured way
Evaluate	judge or calculate the quality, importance, amount, or value of something
Explain	set out purposes or reasons / make the relationships between things clear / say why and/or how and support with relevant evidence
Give	produce an answer from a given source or recall/memory
Identify	name/select/recognise
Justify	support a case with evidence/argument
Outline	set out the main points
State	express in clear terms
Suggest	apply knowledge and understanding to situations where there are a range of valid responses in order to make proposals / put forward considerations
Summarise	select and present the main points, without detail

5 What else you need to know

This section is an overview of other information you need to know about this syllabus. It will help to share the administrative information with your exams officer so they know when you will need their support. Find more information about our administrative processes at www.cambridgeinternational.org/eoguide

Before you start

Previous study

We do not expect learners starting this course to have previously studied sociology.

Guided learning hours

We design Cambridge IGCSE syllabuses to require about 130 guided learning hours for each subject. This is for guidance only. The number of hours a learner needs to achieve the qualification may vary according to each school and the learners' previous experience of the subject.

Availability and timetables

All Cambridge schools are allocated to one of six administrative zones. Each zone has a specific timetable.

You can view the timetable for your administrative zone at www.cambridgeinternational.org/timetables

You can enter candidates in the June and November exam series.

Check you are using the syllabus for the year the candidate is taking the exam.

Private candidates can enter for this syllabus. For more information, please refer to the Cambridge Guide to Making Entries.

Combining with other syllabuses

Candidates can take this syllabus alongside other Cambridge International syllabuses in a single exam series. The only exceptions are:

- Cambridge O Level Sociology (2251)
- syllabuses with the same title at the same level.

Cambridge IGCSE, Cambridge IGCSE (9–1) and Cambridge O Level syllabuses are at the same level.

Group awards: Cambridge ICE

Cambridge ICE (International Certificate of Education) is a group award for Cambridge IGCSE. It allows schools to offer a broad and balanced curriculum by recognising the achievements of learners who pass exams in a range of different subjects.

Learn more about Cambridge ICE at www.cambridgeinternational.org/cambridgeice

Making entries

Exams officers are responsible for submitting entries to Cambridge International. We encourage them to work closely with you to make sure they enter the right number of candidates for the right combination of syllabus components. Entry option codes and instructions for submitting entries are in the Cambridge Guide to Making Entries. Your exams officer has a copy of this guide.

Exam administration

To keep our exams secure, we produce question papers for different areas of the world, known as administrative zones. We allocate all Cambridge schools to an administrative zone determined by their location. Each zone has a specific timetable. Some of our syllabuses offer candidates different assessment options. An entry option code is used to identify the components the candidate will take relevant to the administrative zone and the available assessment options.

Support for exams officers

We know how important exams officers are to the successful running of exams. We provide them with the support they need to make your entries on time. Your exams officer will find this support, and guidance for all other phases of the Cambridge Exams Cycle, at www.cambridgeinternational.org/eoguide

Retakes

Candidates can retake the whole qualification as many times as they want to. Information on retake entries is at www.cambridgeinternational.org/retakes

Language

This syllabus and the related assessment materials are available in English only.

Accessibility and equality

Syllabus and assessment design

Cambridge International works to avoid direct or indirect discrimination. We develop and design syllabuses and assessment materials to maximise inclusivity for candidates of all national, cultural or social backgrounds and candidates with protected characteristics; these protected characteristics include special educational needs and disability, religion and belief, and characteristics related to gender and identity. In addition, the language and layout used are designed to make our materials as accessible as possible. This gives all candidates the fairest possible opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge, skills and understanding and helps to minimise the requirement to make reasonable adjustments during the assessment process.

Access arrangements

Access arrangements (including modified papers) are the principal way in which Cambridge International complies with our duty, as guided by the UK Equality Act (2010), to make 'reasonable adjustments' for candidates with special educational needs (SEN), disability, illness or injury. Where a candidate would otherwise be at a substantial disadvantage in comparison to a candidate with no SEN, disability, illness or injury, we may be able to agree pre-examination access arrangements. These arrangements help a candidate by minimising accessibility barriers and maximising their opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge, skills and understanding in an assessment.

Important:

- Requested access arrangements should be based on evidence of the candidate's barrier to assessment and should also reflect their normal way of working at school; this is in line with the Cambridge Handbook www.cambridgeinternational.org/eoguide
- For Cambridge International to approve an access arrangement, we will need to agree that it constitutes a reasonable adjustment, involves reasonable cost and timeframe and does not affect the security and integrity of the assessment.
- Availability of access arrangements should be checked by centres at the start of the course. Details of our standard access arrangements and modified question papers are available in the Cambridge Handbook www.cambridgeinternational.org/eoguide
- Please contact us at the start of the course to find out if we are able to approve an arrangement that is not included in the list of standard access arrangements.
- Candidates who cannot access parts of the assessment may be able to receive an award based on the parts they have completed.

After the exam

Grading and reporting

Grades A*, A, B, C, D, E, F or G indicate the standard a candidate achieved at Cambridge IGCSE.

A* is the highest and G is the lowest. 'Ungraded' means that the candidate's performance did not meet the standard required for grade G. 'Ungraded' is reported on the statement of results but not on the certificate.

In specific circumstances your candidates may see one of the following letters on their statement of results:

- Q (PENDING)
- X (NO RESULT).

These letters do not appear on the certificate.

On the statement of results and certificates, Cambridge IGCSE is shown as INTERNATIONAL GENERAL CERTIFICATE OF SECONDARY EDUCATION (IGCSE).

How students and teachers can use the grades

Assessment at Cambridge IGCSE has two purposes:

- 1 to measure learning and achievement
The assessment confirms achievement and performance in relation to the knowledge, understanding and skills specified in the syllabus, to the levels described in the grade descriptions.
- 2 to show likely future success
The outcomes help predict which students are well prepared for a particular course or career and/or which students are more likely to be successful.
The outcomes help students choose the most suitable course or career.

Grade descriptions

Grade descriptions are provided to give an indication of the standards of achievement candidates awarded particular grades are likely to show. Weakness in one aspect of the examination may be balanced by a better performance in some other aspect.

Grade descriptions for Cambridge IGCSE Sociology will be published after the first assessment of the syllabus in 2025.

Changes to this syllabus for 2025, 2026 and 2027

The syllabus has been reviewed and revised for first examination in 2025.

You must read the whole syllabus before planning your teaching programme.

Changes to syllabus content

- Some subject content had been reorganised:
 - topic 1 is now called ‘Research methods’ and focuses on research methods only
 - sociological theories relevant to research methods are taught in topic 1. Other theories have been removed from topic 1 and integrated into other topics where relevant
 - unit 7 Media has been discontinued
 - there are now six topics, three for each paper.
- The subject content has been updated:
 - out-of-date content has been removed and replaced with new content
 - all topics have been reviewed and revised
 - topic 1 Research methods has a slightly increased focus on research design, planning and application of methods.
- The description of the subject content has been rewritten:
 - the content is described in more detail
 - the lists of key terms have been removed
 - key terms are now part of the descriptions of content for each topic.
- Learner attributes have been introduced.
- The syllabus aims have been updated.
- Assessment objectives have been updated.
- The weighting of assessment objectives has changed slightly.
- A list of command words has been introduced.

Changes to assessment (including changes to specimen papers)

- The assessment model has been changed:
 - the number of marks for Paper 2 has increased.
 - Paper 1 and Paper 2 both have 80 marks and are equally weighted at 50%.
 - the number of marks per question has changed. All questions in both papers are now 40 marks.
 - the number of marks for part questions has changed.
 - Some of the command words used in questions have changed.
 - In Paper 1, Research methods, Q1(e) is a new type of question.
 - The short stimulus texts at the beginning of questions have been removed.
 - The papers have been given names:
 - Paper 1 Research Methods, Identity and Inequality
 - Paper 2 Family, Education and Crime.
 - The mark schemes have been revised.

In addition to reading the syllabus, you should refer to the updated specimen assessment materials. The specimen papers will help your students become familiar with exam requirements and command words in questions. The specimen mark schemes show how students should answer questions to meet the assessment objectives.

Any textbooks endorsed to support the syllabus for examination from 2025 are suitable for use with this syllabus.

School feedback: ‘While studying Cambridge IGCSE and Cambridge International A Levels, students broaden their horizons through a global perspective and develop a lasting passion for learning.’
